Sofa

PROMENADE, the upholstered collection designed by Philippe Nigro, available in two or three seater sofa. The project is expressed in a highly distinctive decorative language that takes its inspiration from the minimalism and attention to detail of the Viennese secession, an artistic movement of the last century. Starting from the craftsmanship of wood into a transverse square section, rather than round, originally used in 1906 for the "Postsparkasse" series, Philippe Nigro's project has an exposed structure with profiles in Canaletto walnut supporting large, comfortable seating pads and complemented with soft goose-feather or polyester cushions for maximum comfort. The framework is completed by textile-covered panels, which give the sofa an unique value, especially if placed in the center of the room. The optional woven cane inserts along the top of the backrest is an extra detail that accentuates the sides and the back of the sofa. A new concept of softness also suitable for domestic spaces, which substitutes the austerity factor and introducing a number of relaxing and reassuring solutions for your living room, and reflecting GTV's aesthetic style elements.
