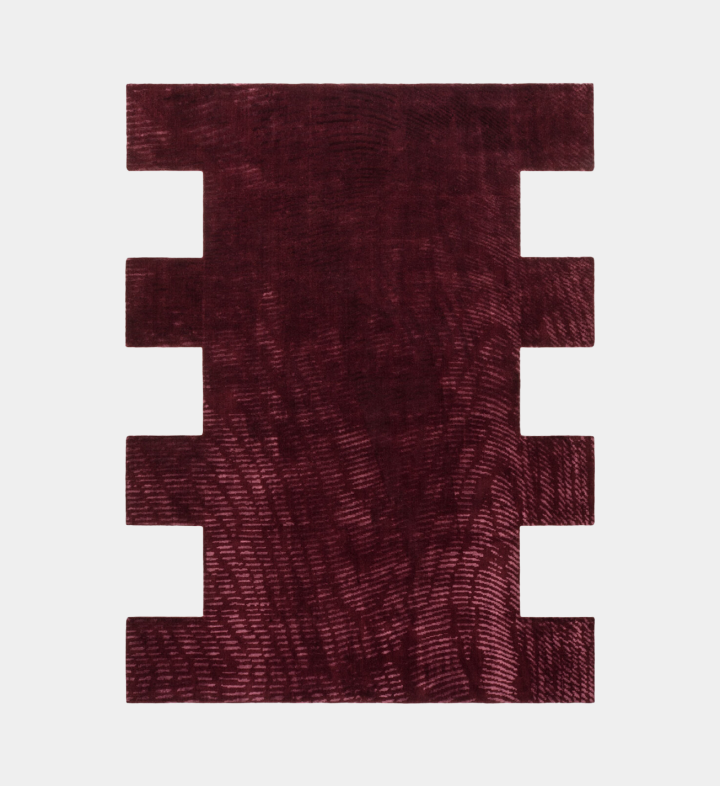
CC-Tapis



Product Type Rug

To create these delicate and complex patterns, cc-tapis and OoCI investigated jacquard weaving techniques, a production method which has been used for over two centuries primarily in the production of textiles. A technique which is very rarely used in the world of rug-making due to its complexity, employing thousands of individual spools of yarn being connected to traditional horizontal Indian hand-looms. A technique which has pushed the boundaries of cc-tapis' craftsmanship, expanding the company's production capabilities.
